Representatives of the Prussian Partition arrive in Warsaw

Representatives of Greater Poland, Pomerania and Silesia held talks with Józef Piłsudski on their participation in the government. The representatives included Wojciech Korfanty, Władysław Seyda and Wojciech Trąpczyński. They recommended W. Korfanty or W. Trąpczyński as Prime Minister. Piłsudski wanted J. Moraczewski to occupy this position and held out three ministerial positions for representatives of Greater Poland.

- German planes flying over Poznań dropped leaflets urging people to stay calm.
